“The GCNS Summit was an interesting learning and networking session that focused on sustainable development. There were several interactive breakout sessions through which participants were given opportunities to select the subject topics they were interested in.

‘A Tangled Web - Overcoming the Challenges in Building Sustainable Supply Chains’ was a very constructive breakout session which addressed the challenges SMEs face in developing a sustainable supply chain, along with the risks associated if such challenges are not appropriately addressed.

The other breakout session which I attended was also interesting -"Developing the Workforce of the Future - Utilising Untapped Sources of Manpower" conducted in a Human Library format, in which real people were on loan to participants to share their life experiences. Being a foreigner, I thought the site visits organized by GCNS were also a good experience.”
